Q: Is OSTP worth the investment? A: With our documented 67-75% win rate and trades regularly returning 50-100%, many members recover their investment within their first few successful trades. Plus, you're protected by our 60-day guarantee - you can apply your investment to any other NetPicks service if OSTP isn't right for you.

Q: I haven't had success with other trading programs. How is OSTP different? A: OSTP differs in three key ways: 1) Our indicators print exact entry, target, and stop levels - no guesswork required, 2) You can trade from your phone in minutes per day, not hours at your desk, and 3) We provide ongoing weekly training and support, not just a one-time course.

Q: Can I really trade successfully on my own with this system? A: Yes. OSTP includes step-by-step training, a simple checklist system, and weekly live coaching. Mike personally supports you through the private Slack group. We've designed this so you can follow the exact same process our team uses internally.

Q: These markets seem too volatile right now. Should I wait? A: Actually, OSTP thrives in volatile conditions. Mike recently achieved a 91% win rate during extreme market swings. The system works in both bull and bear markets, plus our credit spread strategies can profit even when you're wrong about direction.

Q: Do I need options experience to use OSTP? A: No. We include a complete Options 101 course and provide exact guidelines for selecting strikes and expirations. Our checklist approach means you can trade successfully while you're still learning the concepts.

Q: What platforms does OSTP work with? A: OSTP works with Thinkorswim, TradeStation, Ninjatrade8, and TradingView. We recommend TradingView for mobile trading and Tastyworks as your broker for best commissions.

Q: How much time does this really take? A: Most members check charts twice daily for about 10 minutes total - once at market open and once before close. With mobile capabilities, you can do this from anywhere, not just your desk.

Q: What account size do I need? A: We recommend starting with $3,500 minimum. Individual trades typically require a few hundred dollars, and you want a cushion to weather any initial losses while learning.

Q: Is there ongoing support after purchase? A: Yes. You get weekly live training sessions (Tuesdays at 12 PM ET), access to our private Slack community, and two one-on-one coaching sessions. This isn't just software - it's ongoing mentorship.

Q: What if I'm not happy with OSTP? A: You're protected by our 60-day guarantee. If OSTP isn't right for you, we'll apply your full investment to any other NetPicks product or service. There's zero risk in trying it.

Q: What if I can't attend the weekly training sessions? A: All sessions are recorded and available in your member area. You can watch at your convenience, and recordings include timestamped sections so you can jump to specific topics that interest you.

Q: I'm worried about economic uncertainty (rates, tariffs, recession). Should I wait? A: OSTP actually performs well in uncertain times because it adapts to market conditions. Our fade trades capitalize on market overreactions, while credit spreads profit from sideways or choppy markets. The system has proven profitable through multiple market cycles since development.

Q: How is this different from your alert services? A: While our alert services send specific trade recommendations, OSTP gives you the actual system we use to find those trades. You'll have complete control to trade additional markets, adjust position sizes, and choose between long options or credit spreads based on your preferences.

Q: I've tried mobile trading before and found it difficult. How is OSTP mobile-friendly? A: We've partnered with TradingView specifically because their mobile interface is identical to desktop. No relearning or different settings. Plus, our indicators work the same on all devices, and we provide specific mobile trading tutorials to ensure your success.

Q: What happens if technology changes or platforms update? A: Your lifetime access includes all future updates to the indicators and system. We've been supporting our software for nearly 30 years and continually update for platform changes. You'll never need to repurchase due to technology updates.
